

An embarrassing tour through everyday relationships

Peter Berner returns in The Book of They and lifts the lid on our limitations in relationships and coupled-om. Peter's skewed sense of humour jumps off the page at us and everyone gets a serve! Hipsters, mothers, hedge-fund managers, documentary makers, grumpy men and coffee drinkers are gently and sometimes not so gently mocked as they go about their daily business. In other words, all of us!

Read it, you'll like it.

'We've been married for nearly forty years Albert and I want you to know I could've killed you many, many times as you slept, but I didn't. It's your bid.'

Not-so-intensive care.

Currently Peter is the host of 'The B Team' on Sky News. He has also worked as a gym instructor, advertising executive, film actor and banana picker. All this means he either has a wealth of life experience or can't hold down a job. He is the author of The Book of He, which is also funny.

Media

To receive a review copy or arrange an interview, contact Sarah Blundell on 0405 760090 (sarah@finch.com.au)

The Book of They by Peter Berner (Finch Publishing) is available from good bookshops and online e/retailers nationwide in hardback ($14.99) and ebook ($7.99) from 1 October 2017.